Polaris de Folkatomics

Polaris is the debut album from Folkatomik, a new project that ties the roots of traditional southern Italian music with other sounds of the world and electronic.

The sounds are born in southern Italy to embrace a larger Mediterranean, to which the South culturally belongs. Folkatomik plays with different musical languages taking inspiration from places, peoples, events and people around the world to create a hybrid language.

The intention is to dialogue through the universal language of popular music, to make known the beauty of dialects and sounds of the South to a wider audience, and to promote diversity, by bringing party music and dance together, uniting peoples and generations.

For Folkatomik, Polaris is therefore a guide, a light that sets the starting route and will be in constant flow.
